TEACHERS ARE GETTING READY

First Day's Session of Preliminary Institute Held at Court House Today

INSTITUTES ORGANIZED

County Superintendent Addressed Teachers on "Child Study and Discipline"

The preliminary institute of the Rush county teachers opened today in this city with a full attendance of those who wield the rod this winter. At the opening of the exercises County Superintendent W. O. Headlee made an opening speech to the new and old teachers. A part of the morning was taken up in "getting in order" for the township institutes.

The course of study, which is sug-

QUITS FARM ON ACCOUNT OF HEALTH

Came Here Penniless, But Now Have a Goodly Share of World's Possessions

The latest sale of Rush county dirt is that of the A. B. Dowell farm of sixty acres in Center township to Lee Summers, at a price of $100 an acre, or $6000 all told. Mr. Summers is now in possession of 120 acres, valued at $12,000. He came to Indiana ten years ago without a sou. Today he can write a check of good size and know that it would be honored.

Failing health and his inability to sit up and look after his farm caused Mr. Dowell to part with his possessions in old Rush. He like Mr. Summers, came to Indiana when a boy with no means. Mr. Dowell has not decided where he will locate, but will leave the farm the first of October.

—M. and Mrs. Calvin Gruell has returned to their home in Clarksville, Mo., after a month's visit with L. B. Osborn and family, west of town.

BLIND PREACHER PRAYS FOR DEATH

Rev. W. M. Gard is Nearing the End of a Useful Life

HAS MANY FRIENDS HERE

Stricken With Paralysis While Riding on Train Near City

The news reached this city today that Rev. W. M. Gard, who was stricken with paralysis while riding on a train between this city and Greensburg a few days ago, while on his way to his home in Elwood cannot recover.

When the train on which Rev. Gard was riding reached Alexandria he was taken to a hospital there and every attention possible was given the unfortunate man, but to no avail.

He has prayed almost continually, it is said, since he lost his eyesight a few months ago while delivering a sermon in Elwood, that he might be stricken with death, as he said it was a burden to be blind after seeing the greater part of his days, and he felt that he would be better off dead. He prays constantly in his lucid moments, to be allowed to die and be freed from the awful affliction which has taken from him his greatest enjoyment, that of reading his Bible.

Rev. Gard was born and raised in Franklin county and has many friends in city, some of whom he visited only a few days before he was stricken with paralysis. He is a Mason, Elk and a member of the Ministerial Association.

PEA WAS DISMISSED

Assault and Battery Case Goes up in Smoke

Harry Pea was arraigned before Mayor Cowing this afternoon on a charge of assault and battery, but the case was dismissed, as the prosecuting witness—the alleged proprietor of the big steer at the fair grounds here last week—did not put in his appearance.

It is said that the man made false statements regarding his ownership of the show, for it was later learned that he was only a "booster" for a peanut stand.

—Edgar Alexander and family, of Anderson, and Mrs. Frank Cherry, of Indianapolis, were the guests of James Gregg and family on North Harrison street yesterday.

EDITOR STIVERS OUT FOR CONGRESS

Liberty Newspaper Man Launches His Candidacy For Sixth District Job

JO. W. Stivers, editor of the Liberty Herald, has announced himself as a candidate for Congress from the Sixth district, subject to the pleasure of the Republican convention next spring. Mr. Stivers will immediately begin a canvass of the district and will make public addresses in each county. This is the first announcement—save the announcement of Congressman Watson—in the Sixth district for over ten years.

MRS. SMITH DEAD, WELL KNOWN HERE

Former Wife of Late P. W. Rush Died at Charlottesville Wednesday

Mrs. Margaret Smith, a former wife of the late P. W. Rush, at one time one of Rushville's most prominent business men, died at her home in Charlottesville Wednesday night at nine o'clock, after a lingering sickness at the age of seventy five years.

Mrs. Smith, then Mrs. Rush, moved from this city about eighteen years ago, but is favorably remembered by many friends especially among the older residents. She was an aunt of Lon Link, Mrs. Frazier Johnson and the Megee brothers.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock to the late residence in Charlottesville. The remains will be taken at Fairview and burial will occur at that cemetery tomorrow at twelve o'clock.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT NOW BEING HEARD

In Which John Wilson Asks $10,000 From the C. H. & D.

The big damage suit in which John W. Wilson is asking $10,000 damages from the C. H. & D. railroad company for injuries sustained in the wreck which occurred at Glenwood. On the evening of September 27th, 1905, a passenger train, on which Mr. Wilson was a fireman, ran into the rear of a switching freight train; several cars were destroyed and several passengers hurt.

Wilson sued for damages on the grounds that his train had the right of way and it was negligence on the part of the company, that he was injured.

All the evidence was in at 3:30 this evening but the argument will not be begun until tomorrow morning.

M. W. and Ada Mack, acrobats, and Miss Scott, America's foremost female clown and buffoon, are in this city, having just closed their circus season. They do a cast aerial act, enlivened with comedy magic, and the three tip the beam at an aggregate of six hundred pounds.

THE BUILDINGS AND BUILDERS

Rushville's Leading Firm of Contractors, Share in the Glory of the Schools

CONTRACTOR'S RAPID RISE

Morris Winship Was Building Cottages a Few Years Ago, Now a "Big Gun"

It was but a few years ago that Morris Winship was making plans with the stub end of a lead pencil in the back end of an almanac for cottages and small buildings in this city, but in the last two years he has grown into a contractor who is fast gaining a State reputation, and the firm of Winship & Son, of which he is the senior member, is one that must be reckoned with in the letting of any large contract in this part of Indiana for if they are not successful, they will always be found "up in the money."

Perhaps there was no prouder man in Rushville yesterday—not excepting Prof. David Graham, for whom the new building was named—than Morris Winship. In the past two years he has completed the three new school buildings, which were built at a cost of nearly $100,000.

Visitors to this city attest the fitness of the contractor in their praise for the new structure. Any man can well feel proud of a finished job like the Graham school building. Nothing was left undone, and no expense spared to make it one of the completest and most modern building in the State. Convenience and sanitation were the watchwords of the building scheme, and the hundreds of visitors to the school yesterday expressed themselves as being agreeably surprised with the place. From the sanitary drinking fountains and sanitary wardrobes to the improved desks and seats, ventilation scheme and arrangement for good light and plenty of sunshine in each room, the school is a model.

Winship & Son have been doing other things in the past year besides building schools. There is the modern telephone building, the Republican Company building erected for Mauzy & Denning, and the Francis Bros. factory, besides innumerable small contracts.

At present the firm is engaged in building a $14,000 gymnasium at the Franklin college. Too much cannot be said of this firm of contractors and it is a credit to the city to have such a firm in our midst.

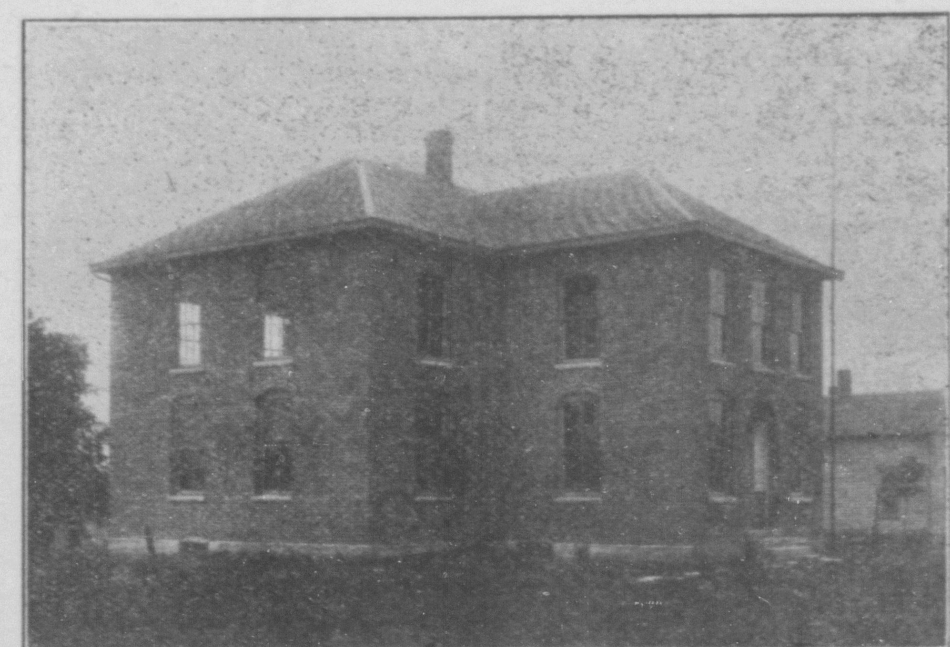

—Miss Mabel Seifert, of Spiceland, will be the guest of Miss Clara Gregg for a few days.

gested by State Superintendent Fasset A. Cotton was discussed by Mr. Headlee, which he heartily endorsed and suggested that the teachers follow as closely as possible in the coming term.

Prof. N. V. Patterson, talked on the teachers new Reading Circle book, entitled American History and the work was then taken up and discussed by James Sheedy. The other Reading Circle book, Elementary Education was discussed by H. B. Wilson, which was followed by an able discussion of the State superintendent's report by Edgar Stivers.

Supt. Headlee made an able address on "Child Study and Discipline," before the institute which was both interesting and instructive, especially to the younger teachers. The south half of the county was in session today. Tomorrow the north half of the county will hold their session in the assembly room of the court house.

Street Commissioner Greenlee Will Address Local Organization on "Modern City"

Street Commissioner T. M. Greenlee, who is making every effort to adopt the system of trash depositories on the street corners in this city, will probably deliver an address before the Tri Kappas tomorrow evening on "The Modern City and its Systems," and will endeavor to get that organization to aid him in his undertaking.

Mr. Greenlee has long had the distinction of being the orator of the Zetophotonians and no doubt the address will be filled with oratorical outbursts of enthusiasm on the subject, which is nearest to Mr. Greenlee's heart.

WHEEL BARROW IN PARADE

Wheeled by Local Lawyer—Girl Takes Dare

A feature of the Baby Parade Tuesday afternoon at the Carnival, and one that promises to touch the heart strings leading to the laughter chamber, will be one of Rushville's attorneys in a ludicrous stunt. Samuel L. Trabue, a local barrister, will head the parade, wheeling Miss Helen Wilson in a wheel barrow. The stunt is the outcome of a "dare and a double dare," and Miss Wilson has agreed

CITY CONDEMNED C. H. & D. PROPERTY

Council Met in Special Session Last Night—Remonstrance Heard

The city council met in a special session last night to adjust some matters and finish some business which was left over at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

The first matter before the council was the remonstrance signed by the several citizens against the Tenth street improvements, and the council readjusted the matter, changing the assessment in accordance with the amount of benefit to the property, being 75, 15 and 10 per cent.

The council also condemned the C. H. & D. railroad property at Arthur street and will now pay the company for the right of way and build Arthur street across the tracks.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, SEPTEMBER 6, 1907.

The question whether a man may marry his deceased wife's sister, was given considerable prominence in England recently, and now since the law has been changed so that an Englishman may legally marry a deceased wife's sister, it will be just as much a human nature for them not to desire to do so.

The Seymour Republican says that throughout Southern Indiana the management of the Kentucky State Fair is advertising in the newspapers and paying for space used. On the other hand the Indiana State Fair managers are trying to work the papers for a lot of free advertising. They are very clever to send in copy, but they do not want to pay anything for publishing it. Most newspaper men are politely depositing this copy in the waste basket.

The argument in favor of the initiative and referendum would be more attractive, if, as a rule, its advocates would not base them upon the assumption that representative government is a failure. To imagine that the people either can't or won't choose capable representatives and then to suppose that they would give any more careful or more intelligent attention to the thousand and one measures that would be proposed, is to assume an absurdity that ought to be apparent upon the face of it.

"Old age has very few compensations," declares Lord Brampton, formerly the famous criminal judge Sir Henry Hawkins, who is ninety years old. "Leisure is not pleasant, and it fills me with regret that I am no longer able to take an active part in the life of the world." Old age cannot be a good thing when it is filled with regrets. The case of Lord Brampton, however is exceptional, if not abnormal. The inability to take an active part in the life of the world is usually accompanied with a loss of desire to do so. Old men who have a falling interest in the present, avoid regrets by dwelling in the past and seem to enjoy it.

Afghanistan in Central Asia is the "Switzerland of Asia," according to the consular reports of Special Agent W. A. G. Clark. This is not the only distinction of Afghanistan. Its inhabitants, numbering between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000, are a "peculiar people," claiming descent from the lost tribes of Israel, calling themselves "Bani Israel," and tracing their lineage back through Sulaiman and Dani (Solomon and David) to Musa (Moses), and on to Isaac, Jacob and Abraham. The Afghans may not know it, but they are relatives of King Menelik of Abyssinia, whose subtitle is "the conquering lion of the tribe of Judah," and who has direct descent from Solomon and the queen of Sheba. He comes by way of houghmangid, as the Scots say, but is none the less proud of the connection. His people are not the Lost Tribes, but the tribe itself. Some years ago an Englishman lecturing in this country on the "Identity of the British Nation with Lost Israel," claimed that the Britons were the descendants of the Hebrews. The tribes of Israel are thus pretty well accounted for.

Senator Beveridge quotes John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, as saying that the American working man receives better wages both in money and in the things that money will buy, than any other workman in the world. Of course, this is true, and this, by the way, illustrates one of the differences—perhaps the chief difference—between a Bryan and a Beveridge man in their mental processes. The Indian takes men as he finds them and conditions as are and reasons from these to a practical conclusion based upon actual facts. The Nebraska takes the academic theory of this and reads a graduating essay as if the world were simply waiting for him and his adolescent dreams to reform it. The one reasons like a practical business man for a business people; the other like a sophomore. The one applies his theories in everyday life; the other goes directly opposite to his theories when conducting his own business.

FIXING UP A BIT

Indiana's Capitol Building Undergoing Much-Needed Repairs.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Some much-needed changes in the appearance of the statehouse are about to be made. Contracts for the work will soon be awarded and the work begun. During the last legislature, when the law-makers overran the capitol, it was not hard to convince them that the building was a bit dingy and needed some freshening up. The appropriation was accordingly secured for the work. An appropriation of $10,750 for freshening the corridor on the third floor of the statehouse and the chambers of the house, senate and museum and supreme court room, $1,500 with which to build a new sidewalk along the Washington street side of the statehouse, $1,500 with which to pave the driveway at the north side of the building, $500 with which to repair the steps at the west end of the building, and $3,390 with which to repair the roof, is to be spent. The steps are already being repaired. When the next session meets the legislature may view their work with pride.

Marion county council has turned down, at least for the time being, the proposition of the county commissioners to build a wing to the courthouse, to be used for the city offices. The action of the council is creating some interest through the fact that there is behind it considerable politics. The politics deals with the city, moreover, rather than with the county. In fact the action of the county council is almost the direct result of a disagreement between the mayor and the city council, and harks back to the proposition to build a coliseum by remodeling Tomlinson hall. The city council building committee, that had charge of this project, has been disappointed ever since the possibility of building the coliseum was blocked by court orders. Though they could not remodel Tomlinson hall, the committee did not turn back the money which has been voted for the purpose, and for which a bond issue was sold. Instead they have been planning since to build a city hall somewhere else, and have been trying to bring the mayor around to their way of thinking. In the meantime the mayor thought up the plan to build a wing to the courthouse, which the city might rent. He told the county commissioners about it, and they agreed to it heartily. The plan was pushed, but the council committee did not agree, and the council and the mayor have come to no agreement in regard to renting the wing should it be built. The mayor and his officials might rent the wing, but they could not provide the money. That must be done through an order from the city council. So the matter is halted. The county council said they would not consider the matter until the city authorities could agree. They may meet again in special session. The difference between the mayor and the council, it is said, is originally a jealous one. The councilmen feel that they have not been consulted frequently enough by the mayor, and they intend, it is said, to show him that it is necessary to consult with them. There is little prospect that they will agree to renting the wing. In the meantime the city offices are scattered over the city in various office buildings.

The delegates to the American Life convention, a meeting of insurance men from a number of the smaller companies of the country, have discussed somewhat the insurance laws of the state, and for the most part they have been pronounced fair and satisfactory. The laws, the delegates say, do not discriminate against the smaller and newer companies that are trying to get started, a thing which is true in some states where insurance scandals have made it necessary to pass very restrictive legislation. The result is that some requirements which are just for the bigger companies are not just for the smaller ones, and they are thrown out.

The revenue of the Indianapolis postoffice is rapidly increasing. David M. Elliott, financial clerk, has made a statement showing the revenue for August as $78,467.21, an increase over the same month last year of $6,667.38. The growth of the postoffice means that the postmaster will be a plum more coveted than ever in political circles.

CASE IS REOPENED

Chance That the Yeagar Murder Mystery May Be Cleared.

A DEATH-BED CONFESSION

Dying Girl at Oakford Is Said to Have Revealed the Secret of Louis Yeagar's Death.

Howard County Grand Jury Will Be Asked to Again Take Up This Case.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 6.—Prosecutor Cooper, Corner Harrison and Deputy J. H. Burt of this city have reopened the investigation of the death of Louis Yeagar, who was found dead in a buggy, with a bullet hole in his head, on the morning of May 12, 1903. Yeagar's death has been a mystery that has baffled the Howard county authorities and the detectives who have worked on the case from time to time. It has always been thought, however, that he was murdered and loaded into his buggy, and his horse then turned loose to take him home, where he was found in his father's barnyard. The new evidence that has been presented to the prosecutor and coroner supports this theory.

It is said that a girl who died at Oakford a short time ago, while on her deathbed confided to a friend facts regarding the killing of Yeagar, admitting that she and another girl and two men were with Yeagar on the night he was killed, and that one of the men fired the shot that killed Yeagar, with whom he had quarreled.

Yeagar's father has kept a standing offer of reward for the arrest and conviction of his son's murderer. The county commissioners kept an offer of a reward of $1,000 for three years for the same purpose, but failed to renew it this year when the appropriations were made.

TALKED TO O. A. BAKER

Marion Man Says He Met Cigarette Fugitive, Who Regrets Flight.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 6.—Ralph B. Warner, a business man of this city, who has just returned from a three months' trip abroad, says that at Heidelberg, Germany, he met and talked with Oscar A. (Cigarette) Baker. The Warners and Bakers stayed at the same hotel and a sojourn in Paris which the tobacco trust lobbyist had planned was at that time interfered with by reason of the fact that Mrs. Baker had fallen down a stairway and severely sprained her hip. Baker expressed regret that he had ever left Indiana and said he was anxious to return to the state and his home in Marion, that he might show the people that he is not as bad as he has been painted. He said his departure was a hasty one and without due consideration; that he now feels confident that he could have defeated the charge of bribery had he stayed and faced the music. He intimated that he would come back whenever he thought it "safe" to do so.

Will Await a Test.
Muncie, Ind., Sept. 6.—The county commissioners have turned down thirteen petitions for roads, fearing that the state law, which provides that under certain conditions country roads may be constructed at expense of the county may be declared unconstitutional. The commissioners desire that the law be tested, and the county attorney is preparing a statement of the county's position. Every county in the state is confronted by similar conditions. It is held by the local board that the statute authorizing the public construction of roads is so unusual as to warrant suspicion of its legality, and that if counties should be guided thereby and the law should be afterwards overthrown, it would result in chaotic conditions.

The Deadly Gasoline.
Indianapolis, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Helen Schiller, a widow, forty-seven years old, and her mother, Mrs. Caroline Cotton, seventy-seven, were both terribly burned in an explosion of kerosene, which set fire to their home at 1405 East Raymond street and both women may die. Mrs. Schiller started a fire in her kitchen stove and when it failed to burn briskly, she poured kerosene on the blaze from a can. The oil in the stove flared out with a sheet of flame and Mrs. Schiller and Mrs. Cotton were enveloped in flames.

Killed by His Own Gun.
Bedford, Ind., Sept. 6.—Courtney Zearing, aged seventeen, was accidentally killed while hunting. The boy and a companion had just left their boat and young Zearing, taking his shotgun from the boat with the muzzle toward him, accidentally released the trigger and the charge entered his left breast, killing him instantly. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Zearing of this city.

Children Were Left Alone.
Marengo, Ind., Sept. 6.—By the burning of the home of Amos Oakes, in a remote part of Crawford county, a three-year-old child was cremated, while two older children were frightfully burned. The older members of the family were absent at the time and neighbors rescued the injured ones.

CHURCH PEOPLE AROUSED

Georgia's Prohibition Law Shuts Out Communion Wine.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 6.—Under a strict construction of the prohibition law which goes into effect in Georgia Jan. 1, 1908, it is held it will be unlawful to administer wine at the communion table. This feature of the law is causing loud protests.

Grand juries throughout the state have adopted the following resolutions: "After Jan. 1, 1908, every minister who hands sacramental wine to his members will subject himself to as many indictments as there are members."

"Every deacon who hands the sacramental wine to the members of the church will be subject to as many indictments as there are members."

"We petition the general assembly of Georgia to make such amendments to the law as will allow the Christian people of this state to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience without violating the laws of the state."

Will Arbitrate Differences.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—After a majority of the union employees of the street railway company were reported to have voted in favor of going on strike at 6 a. m., this morning and all hope of a settlement seemed gone, an agreement was reached at midnight whereby the strike is delayed if not called off entirely. The company officials have accepted a proposal to arbitrate the differences, the men to remain at work meantime.

Fell Beneath Train.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 6.—Harry Riggs, eighteen years old, of Kokomo, Ind., was instantly killed at Metcalf by being run over by a through freight train on the Illinois Central road. Riggs and another Kokomo boy were in the act of boarding the train, which was going rapidly, when Riggs fell beneath the wheels of a boxcar.

Complicates the Situation.

Bristol, Vt., Sept. 6.—There is now little hope of compromising the claims against the Union Iron and Steel corporation, for which a receiver was appointed by Judge Skeen of the United States court Monday, and a number of additional creditors have joined in the receivership proceedings.

Weak, Weary Women

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them

When the back aches and throbs. When housework is torture. When night brings no rest nor sleep. When urinary disorders set in. Women's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills.

Have cured women here in Rushville. This is one Rushville woman's testimony. Mrs. Bern Pruett, 809 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says:

"I suffered from a weak back and pains across my kidneys. Added to this was severe headaches, I could not sleep well nights and felt languid and weary all the time. My husband procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store and I had not taken the contents of one box before the pains were banished and my kidneys had become strengthened. I can conscientiously recommend this remedy to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Change in Time For Telephone Messages

Beginning next Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 6 a. m., the initial time period on all toll messages passing wholly or jointly over the New Long Distance Telephone Company's lines will be (3) three instead of five (5) minutes as heretofore.

Overtime, at the rate of one-third the initial period, will be charged for each additional minute more than three (3), making the total charge for any one conversation end in the nearest 0 or 5.

The present rate for five (5) minutes will apply to the new three (3) minute schedule.

Beginning with the above date, the day rate will prevail for the entire twenty-four hours of each day, the night rate being discontinued.

It O. M. DALE, Secretary.
